Eucomed engages!

Eucomed advises on implications of Directive 2007/47 |1|

Directive 2007/47, which outlines the requirements for placing medical devices on the market and amends the medical devices directives 90/385 and 93/42, will enter into force on 21 March 2010. The new Directive does not provide for a transitional period during which products which conform to the previous version of the directive, can still be put into service after 21 March.
